

Hoangti was the emperor of China. He had a beautiful wife whose name was Si-ling. The emperor and his wife loved their people and always thought of their happiness.

In those days, the Chinese people wore clothes made of skins. By and by animals grew scarce, and the people did not know what they should wear. The emperor and empress tried in vain to find some other way of clothing them.

Read how they solved their problem in this book.

Non-Fiction
RL: 5.1
Words: 680

THE GODDESS OF THE SILKWORM

A Tale from China

A LearningIsland.org
Tale of Old